Come with me to Galway when the moon is on the rise, come with me to Galway when the moon is on the rise, for that's the time that Galway is a lover's par-a-dise. There's porter and Guinness and,

oh, the quiet rain and you can hear the lonely whistle
O Come With Me

41

of the Dublin train.

47

come with me to Mayo when the falling stars fall

54

for people say that that's the time that Mayo's best all.

I've rented us a cottage with pictures on the wall - where we can sit and

where we can sit and

where we can sit and

where we can sit and

drink our tea and watch the stars fall.
